OUR PRIVACY PHILOSOPHY

PacketSnitch is designed with privacy in mind.

Our goal is to collect as little information about our users as reasonably possible. Most packet analysis occurs locally on your own computer. We do not intentionally collect or retain personally identifying information except where necessary to operate our business, process purchases, comply with applicable law, or where you voluntarily choose to provide information.

Automatically Collected Information

Like most online services, our servers may automatically receive technical information when PacketSnitch communicates with our infrastructure, including:

IP addresses

Connection timestamps

Browser or application version

Operating system information

Diagnostic connection logs

Error logs necessary for service operation

These records are used for security, abuse prevention, troubleshooting, and maintaining our services.

Information You Voluntarily Provide

You may voluntarily provide information to us, including:

Name

Email address

Purchase information

Support requests

Diagnostic reports

We only use this information for customer support, licensing, payment administration, accounting, and communication regarding PacketSnitch.

PacketSnitch may offer an OPTIONAL feature allowing you to submit diagnostic or telemetry information to oxasploits to assist in debugging or improving the Software.

Participation is entirely voluntary.

Before any diagnostic information is transmitted, PacketSnitch is designed to remove or exclude, to the extent reasonably practicable:

Packet capture files (PCAP/PCAPNG)

Imported files

User documents
Binary data blobs
Packet payloads
LLM prompts
LLM responses
Authentication credentials
API keys
Personally identifying content

The diagnostic information is intended to contain only technical information necessary to diagnose software defects or improve PacketSnitch.

No diagnostic information is transmitted unless you explicitly choose to do so.

PacketSnitch performs packet analysis primarily on your own computer.

Unless you explicitly choose to transmit diagnostic information or use third-party services, packet captures, network traffic, imported files, and analysis remain under your control and are not transmitted to oxasploits.

PacketSnitch may establish outbound Internet connections for features including, but not limited to:

Version checking
Software updates
Plugin downloads
Theme downloads

Optional diagnostic submissions
Third-party integrations

By using these features, you acknowledge that your computer necessarily communicates with systems on the Internet.

Any legal, regulatory, privacy, security, or operational consequences arising from these Internet communications remain solely your responsibility. oxasploits does not assume responsibility or liability for the privacy practices, logging, monitoring, policies, or actions of any third-party service, network, Internet provider, or government entity that may observe or process such communications.
